Whilst & S Plastics have worked on many projects for major international clients, we are always happy to work on small batch productions. The small run doesn't mean a huge hike in prices and we run batches starting from 1,000 molded units.

Here at S & S Plastics we realise the importance of having stock as and when you need it, which is why we offer next day delivery on most stock items (if ordered before 1pm). We also have no minimum order levels, meaning you only have to order what you need.

You never want to be in the position where you do not have the right stock available for your fitting teams - that's why S & S Plastics hold a large quantity of stock. Not only will this reduce delayed installations, but it also saves your company money on storage space.
